

It's a crazy we're living in! Creating the things you want to happen is more challenging than it's ever been. It's tougher than ever to win. You've got to pull out all the stops to come out on top...

Our speaker today is a leader in training people to perform at their best. She travels the country teaching athletes, corporations and associations how to use their minds to create championship performance. Clients have included Superbowl and World Series winners as well as Olympians and PGA Tour pros.

In addition to being a champion athlete, She's a high performance body language trainer and the author of her new Amazon bestseller Persuasion Point, and Body Language Confidential.

Today she's going to share with us exactly how to create the mindset and results of a champion. Hold on to your hats and be ready to take lots of notes. We're in for some fun! Please help me welcome Traci Brown