

Traci Brown is a body language expert and a leader in training people to build their bottom line by detecting deception.

She's a frequent guest on TV interpreting the body language of criminals and politicians. (And sometimes both labels describe the same person!) [Pause for Laughs]

She even helps lawyers pick and persuade a jury using body language.

Here's a couple of fun facts:

She got a deal with Kevin Harrington—one of the Sharks from the hit ABC TV show Shark Tank.

She's a former member of the US National Cycling team.

And her New book, How to Detect Lies, Fraud and Identity Theft is hot off the presses.

Today we're in for some fun! She's going to share with us secrets of exactly how to tell whose pants are on fire. Get ready. It's about to get hot in here!

Please hold your applause until after this really cool video