

It's a crazy world out there. Creating the things you want to happen is more challenging than it's ever been. You've got to do everything you can to get what you want...

Our speaker today travels the world teaching corporations and associations how to build their bottom line thru strategic use of body language.

She's a frequent guest on TV news shows interpreting the body language of criminals and politicians (and many times both labels describe the same person)

[Pause for Laughs]

She even trains lawyers how to pick and persuade a jury using body language.

Her new book How to Detect Lies, Fraud and Identity Theft is hot off the presses.

Today she's going to share with us exactly how to uncover secrets hidden in plain sight. Hold on to your hats and be ready to take lots of notes. We're in for some fun! Please hold your applause till after you see this really cool video.(cut to video)
